

Psalm 103:3

...who heals all your diseases...

Father God, thank you for this, another benefit from being your child. Because you are our creator, we know you are our healer...you heal sometimes through medical people and actions taken, medicines given that help our bodies do what you have made them to do. Other times, you heal in a miraculous way when medical people give up and say there is no hope... whatever kind of healing takes place, we know you are the life giver and the only healer because you are the One in whom there is new life. Thank you, Father, that I can trust you to heal me, if this is your plan, knowing that someday that healing of the body is not given because it is our time to move Home to Heaven to be with you. Thank you that you are wise and merciful and powerful...thank you that you are the healer. I trust you. Amen.
