

Psalm 103:6

The Lord works righteousness and justice for all the oppressed.

Father God, when we look around us in our fallen world, it is easy to become discouraged and depressed over the fall of those oppressed who are already stumbling even if it is not me personally. This is a hard life for so many who have been cheated out of the good things this world has to offer and received only leftovers and bitterness. Thank you, Lord, for your mercy that endures forever, thank you for working righteousness in our laws and in the hearts of people in high places who consider the oppressed. Our world is an oppressive place, Lord Jesus, thank you for that power you have to lift up, raise, and bless. Amen.
